

The 2020 New American Home is located in the private community of Ascaya in Henderson, NV and overlooks the McCullough mountain ranges and the Las Vegas strip. The design build team at Sun West Custom Homes took inspiration from the “contemporary desert” aesthetic of the hillside development and created a modern contemporary design that reflects the surrounding scenery. TruStile’s interior doors provided clean, sleek lines and an interesting mix of materials throughout the interior of the home. SunWest incorporated several of TruStile’s Tru&Modern door styles in Walnut with a Nutmeg finish, creating a one-of-a-kind TruStile Design Package.

TruStile is changing the way architects and designers think about interior doors. Every door is made to order which makes it easy to design in different door styles and sizes, use both paint-grade and stain-grade doors, add glass and other material inserts, and have multiple opening types throughout the same project. Interior doors can tie together the design of each room in a home and create an impact that will differentiate each project.

A TM9350 with Bamboo Rings resin conceals the laundry room from the dining room. Behind, a 20-minute fire-rated TM9000 door leads to the garage and "man cave" area.

The pantry in the kitchen adds depth to the room with Thatch resin in a TM9250.

SunWest chose the same door material, finish, and series throughout the project but blended styles and inserts to create a unique yet complimentary look for each room in the home. TruStile's flexible manufacturing, wide range of design options, and high-quality products helped to put the finishing touches on this beautiful home.

The master bath features TM9160 swing doors with Cirque resin inserts. Using a pocket door for the water closet better utilizes space; the resin inserts allows in light while maintaining privacy.
